OLD GRAVEYARD DUG UP AT PAINT LICK

Paint Lick, April 23.

Luther Roberts was quarrying rock on the farm of Boyd Wynn and found a number of bones of human bodies. He found them in several places not far under the ground. From the thickness of the skull bones, it is thought they belong to the negro race. They evidently were buried there a hundred years ago, and the writer thinks they were slaves of the first settlers of Garrard county.

Henry White, of Atlanta, is visiting his sister, Mrs. R. G. Woods. James Hurst has pneumonia. We hope for his speedy recovery.

Dogwood winter and a few frosts have about finished up the fruit. The strawberry and blackberry crops will be all we can hope for this year.

Misses Calico, Sloan, Garrett, Huff and Scott are attending the K. E. A. at Louisville. Profs. Gilbert and Long are also in attendance.

Miss Jennie Parks, of Richmond, is the guest of Misses Lucy and Maggie Francis.

Carter Forrester and wife, of Harlan, have been visiting friends here.

The revival at Wilnutt is increasing in interest and a full house is seen at night. There has been one addition.

Rev. W. A. Ramsey and Elder J. N. Denny are attending the presbytery at Old Providence, in Mercer county.

The many friends of W. K. Argo will regret to hear of his death. The writer was associated and went to school with him. Mr. Argo was a bright and intelligent man and had to leave Kentucky in his young days on account of lung trouble.

Sam Beasley was taken to the Gibson hospital and operated on for appendicitis and is doing nicely.

Dr. H. J. Patrick attended the dental association meeting at Louisville.

Miss Mabel Hall is attending the K. E. A. at Louisville.

Convicts Plunge Against Doors and Break Locks

Frankfort, Ky., April 23.—In a panic caused by an alarm for a fire drill at the state reformatory several big locks of cells in the negro row were broken when powerful convicts hurled themselves against their doors. The unusual excitement was caused by the belief of one of the prisoners that he both smelled and saw smoke, and his cries caused the others nearby to become frantic.

CHERRY WANTS FOUR-YEAR NORMAL COURSE

President of Western Normal Says Too Many Incompetent Teachers Are Turned Out

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., April 23.—A plea for the extension of the course of study in normal schools from the present two-year teacher training program to a full four-year course, was made here by Dr. H. H. Cherry, president of the Western Kentucky State Normal School, in an address before the Kentucky Educational Association. He declared that educational thinkers are fast accepting the position that just as much scholarship and superior training is demanded for successful teaching in the elementary grades as in the secondary schools.

Raising the standard of normal schools, he said, would require a gradual evolution of several years. Dr. Cherry spoke on "Educational Leadership."

A "distressing number" of incompetent young teachers are answering the call for trained educational leadership, Dr. Cherry told his hearers. They seem to be more interested in getting an education through quick superficial reviews, thereby getting a certificate that will enable them to secure a position paying $75 or $100 a month when "they are in having democracy's vision of service and the teacher's preparation and conviction." The rush to secure certificates before the new law raising professional standards goes into effect, he said, is unprecedented. Most of these young teachers, he asserted, will not continue their education beyond acquiring a two or four year certificate and will leave the profession when their certificates expire.

Telling of a county superintendent who recently told him that he had 75 schools and 125 applications, Dr. Cherry said that "I believe there is more danger in having too many teachers in Western Kentucky than there is in not having enough. We are certain to have a surplus of teachers with the minimum qualifications and we are equally certain to have a big shortage of instructors for those positions that demand a higher preparation," a teacher-eliminating campaign as well as a teacher recruiting campaign is necessary, he said, adding that the way should be made easy for the competent teacher to remain in the profession and easy for the incompetent to get out.

The summer schools to be conducted for training teachers this year will not be "crash" schools, he said, but will be centers of "professional inspiration and academic advancement."

One of the greatest needs, according to the speaker, is for a just salary schedule with the maximum as much as 100 per cent above the minimum. Unjust and undemocratic salary schedules have driven many promising material out of the profession, he said.

Some of the schools of Kentucky, according to Dr. Cherry, are "already dust and ashes in the hands of dead teachers." In some instances consolidations have been followed by reaction and disappointment because of incompetent leadership. Progressive legislation and courses of study have been made inefficient because of lack of efficient teachers. He declared that it might be in the interest of education in the state to temporarily stop school consolidations, to refuse to build another high school and temporarily close the school houses until competent teachers can be obtained.

"If the teaching profession fails, he said, every educational effort will fail. It is extremely dangerous to push school improvement too far ahead of efficient school leadership. He had better continue the school in the old dilapidated school house for a few years longer than to erect the wrong kind of a building. There are school houses in Kentucky not a month old that are now behind present day educational progress. We had better let the community sleep a little longer unless we are in position to aid it when we wake it up."

There are courses of study, he said, "that are dead and buried three feet under the ground and they will remain there until the breath of life is breathed into them by a real teacher. There are school laws that were enacted in the interest of reform that have not breathed since they were entered upon the statutes.

In order to be more definite, I might say that agriculture is in the course of study and that nibbins are in the field. Dietetics in the school and dyspepsia in the home. A sanitary cup is in the said, "that are dead and buried three feet under the ground and cup hangs at the school well."

LOCAL OFFICERS BREAK UP STILL

Four Barrels of Beer and Moonshine Found at Still in the Dreyfus Section of County

(By Associated Press)

Deputy Sheriff's Sant Bush and W. A. Johnson accompanied Revenue Officer Winfrey on a trip down in the Dreyfus section Friday afternoon and raided a still which they had heard about and completely demolished it before leaving. Mr. Bush stated they left here Friday just after dinner and had very little trouble in locating the still, but it was dark before they got back with their prisoner Joe Pittman, who claims no ownership in the still, and says that the still is not on the enclosure of his land. Mr. Pittman went before Commissioner Warfield Bennett and gave bond for $400 for his appearance in federal court here next week.

Four barrels containing beer were found in the still, but the officers say that one of these barrels was filled with still slop. It seems that the worm had been removed from the still a short while before the officers made their appearance, but the furnace, kettle and other evidence around the officers to the belief that business had been quite active.

In searching around the premises two quart of moonshine was found in a little cabin near the still, buried in the ground, and was well covered with old sacks and other rubbish to prevent detection, but the officers were too wise for this, and the whisky was secured. The beer was poured out of the ground, the barrels were burned, and kettle smashed, and when the officers finished the job there was little to tell that a still ever existed on the place.

The Ladies Love Thorobreds

R. E. Dundon, writing in the Louisville Times, says: The feminist invasion has overrun the thoroughbred racehorse field. If you don't believe it pay a visit to Lexington and you will discover that the two principal nurseries of equine supremacy are in sole charge of the gentler sex. You also will find that a woman has been commissioned to paint the portrait of Man o' War, world's champion running horse. Mrs. W. C. Lucas, of Versailles, is now engaged in painting the portrait of Man o' War. She did Eternal for Edward F. Simms, his owner. Mrs. Lucas is one of the best animal painters in the country. Man o' War seems to know that he is the object of such admiration, for he willingly poses for the artist's brush.

LEXINGTON TRACK IN ITS 93RD YEAR

Spring Meeting of Famous Old Kentucky Association Opens at Blue Grass Capital

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., April 23.—The 93rd year of the Kentucky Association race track here is scheduled to open here this afternoon with a program of seven races. The most important of the events is the Ben Ali Handicap for which 59 nominations were made before the entries closed.

For more than 100 years horse racing has been one of the chief sports of the Bluegrass region. Organized racing in Lexington has been in existence for 124 years. The Association track now owned by the Kentucky Jockey Club, which operates tracks in Louisville and Latonia, was built in 1828. Two years previously the Kentucky Association was formed. The track was built on land owned by Postlewaite's Inn, which since has become the Phoenix Hotel.

Although the present track is 93 years old, it had a predecessor that was built in 1797 near the Georgetown pike in what is now Forest Hills. The rules governing this track called for a meeting to start on the second Wednesday of November. The races were real long distance affairs. The first day, four-mile heats were run. On the second day, the races were three mile heats and on the third day two mile.

The old organization was succeeded in 1899 by the Lexington Jockey Club which remained in charge of racing until 1823, when it died. From that time until 1826 there was no organized racing here, the Kentucky Association being organized in the latter years.

The present organization has had many famous men as its officers. Henry Clay was active in it for years. John C. Breckinridge was its president while he was vice president of the United States. Others who have been active in its management were Senator James B. Beck, J. C. S. Blackburn, Major H. C. McDowell, Capt. T. J. Bush and many others. Former United States Senator Johnson N. Camden now is president of the organization with Col. Matt J. Winn, as vice president and general manager, and Sherman Goodpaster is secretary and treasurer.

Important events to be contested during the ten days meeting set to open today are the Ben Ali Handicap, on the opening day; The Ashland Oaks, April 26; Hianta Stakes, April 28; Blue Grass Stakes, April 30; Idle Hour Handicap on May 4, the closing day.

The opening event, the Ben Ali Handicap, is for three-year-olds and up, at a mile and a sixteenth with a $3,000 purse added to the nomination and entry fees. In addition the winner will receive a cup donated by L. L. Haggin.

A number of noted stables have made nominations including E. R. Bradley, Commodore J. K. L. Ross, E. F. Simms, Thomas C. McDowell, and Bud Fisher, the cartoonist. W. O. Stoner has nominated General Haig, the winner of the event last year.

NORMAL NEW TWIRLER STOPS UNION TO WALK

Eastern Wins From Barbourville College By 8 to 2—Several Classy Games Scheduled

Union College, of Barbourville stopped off here Friday for a game with Eastern Normal but was turned back by a score of 8 to 2. Three new men were tried out by Eastern, Smith as catcher, Ballou, as pitcher, and Nicholas at second. Smith proved to be a classy backstop, and Ballou's work could hardly be improved upon. Both men, however went through the game without a hit. Nicholas played only one inning, getting no fielding chances and fanning out.

Ballou, Eastern's new twirler, pitched only six innings, allowing only one hit and striking out 14 men. Lackey allowed the same number in the last three innings and fanned three men. Ballou was a bit wild at first, but soon settled down to a mid-summer pace.

The Normalites tapped the old horsehide for a hit ten times. Joe White led Eastern in hitting with two singles and a double. Combs made a triple in the seventh that would have been a home run had it not hit a tree. He also made a single. Normal bunched hits for four runs in the second inning.

In the second inning Combs led off with a single between first and second. He took second on a wild pitch. Lackey then walked. Both runners were advanced on a passed ball. Rice grounded to Trooper, Combs scoring and Lackey taking third. Mainous then doubled to right, scoring Lackey. He took third on a passed ball and scored on Dunaway's hit over short. Dunaway advanced to second when Trooper fumbled Ballou's grounder. Gray struck out. White then doubled between center and left field, Dunaway scoring and Ballou taking third. Smith struck out retiring the side.

One of Normal's biggest games is to be played Monday afternoon with Kentucky Wesleyan College of Winchester. On Friday and Saturday, Sue Bennett School from London will be here for two games, and a schedule is being arranged with Georgetown College and Transylvania University and possibly with the University of Louisville and Western State Normal.

Ballou or Lackey will do the pitching Monday against Kentucky Wesleyan. Smith will be on the receiving end if Ballou pitches, but if Lackey pitches, Fox will likely do the heavy work. Friday's score:

Many Kentuckians are horse lovers and interested in preserving the great industry that has been built up in this state thru-out its entire history and has made it famous throughout the world. The throngs that will gather at Lexington during the next ten days will attest well to the popularity of the sport of racing. Men prominent in the history of the country have been devotees of the sport at all times. As a writer in the Enquirer said the other day, chief among the charms of racing has always been its democracy. The horse is the thing of today, just as he was in the time of George Washington and Andrew Jackson. Both of these Presidents of the United States were loyal supporters of the turf. They bred and raced their own horses, and history records the fact that the former acted as judge at the Newmarket course, near Charleston, S. C., on one occasion. Washington was a fearless horseman, and hunted regularly until late in life, his stable noted for the number and quality of the horses it contained.

Andrew Jackson was a patron of the turf long before he became President, and raced a formidable stable, which included Truxton a horse of which he was exceedingly proud and with which he had won a match for $5,000 a side against Greyhound. Peter Jackson was inaugurated President, he brought his horses to the capital and trained them personally. It is recorded that Vice President and Mrs. Van Buren were present at some of the morning trials, which were supervised with characteristic impetuosity by Jackson, who was noted for the high quality of his temper.

The Washington course was built in 1802 and was about two miles from the capitol. It was operated by a jockey club, and among its members were the most distinguished men of the period. The races over it were regularly attended by the Presidents from Jefferson to Van Buren. John Quincy Adams on one occasion walked to and from the course surrounded by the equipages of the wealthy.

In commenting on the fascination which racing had for the great men of the day and of the earlier period of the Union, Editor Skinner, of the Turf Register had the following to say in 1833: "General Washington and General Jackson are examples of the fondness that great military men have generally entertained for the horse and the sports of the turf. Though equally bold and graceful riders on the field, Gen. Jackson was most successful on the course. The racing annals of the West record his numerous victories, and according to the anecdotes which are told of him he sometimes intimidated his adversaries by the boldness of his defiance, where he might not have won by the speed or bottom of his horse."

One of Jackson's closest friends was the Rev. H. H. Cryer, a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, who was a breeder of thoroughbred horses and raced one of them in the name of his partner, Col. George Elliott. The reverend gentleman was charged with horseracing and was summoned before the tribunal and asked if he had anything to say in his defense. "Nothing," was his reply, "except that I would like to have you let me know how I can arrange it for my half of the horse to stand in the stable while Col. Elliott's half is racing. The horse belongs to us jointly. He has the same right to control him as I have, and he will race him and I cannot keep him from it." It is needless to record the fact that Mr. Cryer was acquitted.

That there was an absence of prejudice against the turf in its earliest days, it is mentioned in the Catholic Churchman, published at Annapolis in 1744, that among the legitimate pastimes of the population which met with the approval of the church itself was the new one of racing horses which had grown to be highly popular among the gentry of the country.

There are those today who believe that the turf of the present day is on the eve of a greater measure of support than it has received for some years.

TO ABANDON TEST OF WOMAN'S ELIGIBILITY

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., April 23.—The proposed test case to establish whether women in Kentucky are eligible for jury service will be abandoned, it was announced here today. Attorneys for Adolph McLaughlin, who was convicted by a jury which contained a woman member, decided to make the test case, but at a conference today with counsel for the Louisville bar association it was decided to abandon the attempt. Both sides were of the opinion that women are ineligible, but the examination of records of higher courts showed the weight of opinion in their favor. Inasmuch as the Kentucky Court of Appeals would be influenced by these decisions, it was decided to abandon the proposed test case.

ARTIST TELLS OF HIS STRUGGLE FOR HEALTH

Local Man Says Both Himself and Wife Put Tanlac to the Test and Both Were Restored

"Both my wife and myself have put Tanlac to the test and we call it the greatest medicine in the world," said J. T. Montamat, 1123 Third Ave., North, Nashville, Tenn., artistic sign painter for the Cusack Company. Mr. Montamat has lived in Nashville for nearly thirty years and is highly respected by all who know him.

"Before my wife took Tanlac she suffered so badly from gas on her stomach and heartburn that she often said she felt like she was smothering to death. She actually had to sit up in bed to get her breath.

"Well, in a short time after she began taking Tanlac her trouble disappeared and she was like a different person. Seeing the good results in her case, I began taking the medicine myself and it soon had me feeling like a brand new man.

"Up to that time I had been troubled with indigestion. I had no appetite and the little I did eat seemed to do me about as much harm as good. I felt so tired and languid I hated to move around, and was getting in such a run-down condition that it worried me.

"Tanlac acted with me just like it did with my wife, and although that was three years ago we have enjoyed the best of health all along. However, I keep a bottle of Tanlac in the house at all times and when I feel myself getting run down the medicine soon has me feeling all right again. I am convinced that Tanlac is without an equal. Our friends all know how it helped us and I don't hesitate to tell anyone about it."

New Ideas in All-Day Frocks

THE diverse occupations and activities of the modern woman's day make a frock suited to every hour of it. Therefore "all-day" as a description, is to be taken with some limitations—it really means the greater part of a day. But crepe-de-chine, Canton crepe and similar weaves have inspired creators of frocks to make models that come as near to answering for all-day wear as we are likely to ever come.

Two of these all-day frocks, as shown in the illustration, are unpretentious, but elegant models in which one recognizes many of this season's style points and either of them might be developed in crepe-de-chine, Canton crepe or other supple weaves of silk. The frock pictured at the left must be imagined in a dark color of crepe-de-chine, and a good quality. It is one of many that insures its success by refusing to depart from straight lines. The bottom of the skirt is enriched with a wide band of embroidery in silk, like the dress in color, and narrower bands finish the sleeves. The loose girde across the front, fastening with a large buckle, the very long opening at the front, the handsome lace chemise and the undefined waist line, all emphasize the adoption of good points in the new modes by the designer of this frock.

Another straight-line dress asserts its approval of deep slashes forming panels in the tunic, in accordance with a much-slashed mode. For these slashes appear in suits as well as dresses, in tunics and the skirt portion of coats, among the handsomest models. Each of the slashes in the dress pictured is outlined with a border of embroidery and a narrow embroidered border defines the collar and the turned-back cuffs that finish gracefully three-quarter length sleeves. The crowning glory of this dress is presented in its wide girde, made of the material and finished with a handsome fringe, that is adjusted in the approved fashion about the waist.

REVIVAL CONTINUES WITH MUCH INTEREST

Despite Inclement Weather, Big Crowd Hear Dr. Doolan
on Friday Night

The message delivered by Dr. Doolan Friday night at the revival services being held at the First Baptist church was one of the most powerful sermons ever delivered in Richmond. The subject he discussed is paramount and fundamental and has been the great question in every man's mind (whether he acknowledged it or not) since the fall of man in the Garden of Eden. His subject, "How a bad man can be saved, and how a good man can be lost," was presented with all the power which a life of study and concentration can give. He read from the tenth chapter of Mark that wonderful story of the rich young man who ran to Jesus and asked the question, "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" This young man, in reply to the reference to the Commandments made by the Master, said that he had observed them from his youth. The Master looked upon him and loved him, because he knew that the youth believed what he said, but Jesus knew that no man had ever been perfect in the keeping of the Commandments, and in order to test the young man and show him his mistake, said, "One thing thou lackest; go thy way, sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in Heaven; and come and take up the cross and follow me." And the scripture says that the young man went away grieved, for he had great possessions. He was not willing to give up the goods of this world for the treasures in Heaven, about which the Master spoke. The young man had evidently forgotten about that most important of all the Commandments: "Thou shalt have no other gods before me."

How can one know exactly what is right? Can one do right as well as he knows how? Is mere morality sufficient to save men? These questions were asked and answered in the negative, both by the Word of God and by logical reasoning. Cornelius, who was not only a moral man but a man who believed in God and was continuously in prayer to Him, was not saved until Peter came to him, having been sent by God Himself, and gave unto him the words of eternal life; told the story of Jesus and the resurrection; the plain simple story, which everyone may read and understand. Salvation is not the work of man, but the work of God through His grace; because He loved us. He gave. Men can only show each other about it, but God gives salvation.

No man, no matter how good, can save himself. The only thing on earth or in Heaven which "must save" a man is believing in the Lord Jesus Christ, with all his mind, his strength, his heart.

There will be no services Saturday night as Dr. Doolan expects to hold four services on Sunday. The service for men at 2:30 in the afternoon will be most interesting and it is hoped that the building will be crowded to capacity.

Musical Comedy at Normal

On Tuesday evening, April 26, the pupils of the Normal Rural School will present an operetta entitled, "A Merry Company." This will be a musical entertainment of more than ordinary dramatic ability of the pupils of the school. The operetta represents a company of cadets and young girls on a picnic excursion. Two of the number, a boy and girl, slip away from the others and disguise themselves as peddlers, after which they make their appearance and do a thriving business selling articles to the picnic party. Meanwhile, three policemen appear upon the scene and cause considerable embarrassment. The operetta throughout is full of humor and amusing situations.

The entertainment will be held in the Normal chapel, beginning at 7:30. Tickets may be secured from pupils of the rural school or at the door. Admission will be only 15 cents.

K. E. A. Delegates on Way Home

Louisville, Ky., April 23.—Every train leaving the city today is crowded with delegates returning to their homes after the Kentucky Educational Association meeting. Departing delegates seemed to agree that the convention was most successful in point of attendance and enthusiasm. The women frankly were pleased with the election as president of Mrs. D. L. Hall, superintendent of schools of Shelby county. They regard it as a refutation of the assertion that some are opposed to the election of women officers merely because they are women. The election of M. E. Ligon, of Henderson, and H. H. Cherry, of Bowling Green, to the board of directors is likewise popular.

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women

Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had fever and sick dizzy spells and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HARRY A. WILSON, R. F. D. 5, Clearfield, Pa.

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a healthy normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backaches, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness and "the blues" a woman cannot act too promptly in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she values her future comfort and happiness.

GOOD HEALTH HINTS

Oklahoma Farmer Gives Sound Advice on Avoiding Sickness.—Used Black-Draught 30 Years.

Cameron, Okla.—"I have used Theodor's Black-Draught for about thirty years, and certainly ought to know by this time what a good medicine it is," says Mr. T. L. Bostler, a well-known farmer of this place. Mr. Bostler has passed his three-score-and-ten year, but declares his health still is good, "and I can say Black-Draught did its part."

"Where there is a lot of malaria, a liver medicine is a necessity, and I have never found one better than Black-Draught," continues the Oklahoman. "It is one that I know to be reliable. I sure use it for the liver, stomach, constipation, indigestion, and it has done me a world of good. We use it for the family, and it gives satisfaction."

"Most trouble, or sickness, comes from the liver, and if taken in time can be avoided. That is why I use Black-Draught as I do. I am much pleased with results obtained."

Theodor's Black-Draught is purely vegetable. It acts on the bowels, gently stimulating the liver, and helps increase the normal flow of bile into the intestines. It assists in the digestion of food, and relieves constipation in a prompt and natural way.

VETERAN RAIDER TELLS OF 'SHINERS

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Ky., April 23.—The "moonshining mountaineer" is a very peculiar and oftentimes picturesque character, in the opinion of Rowan Sanley, veteran raider, their very deliberate efforts to conceal an illicit still frequently is the only clue revenue officers have as to its location. Often when making a path to the scene of operations, instead of its being a general one, it will be very narrow, the operator having been careful to put one foot directly in front of another in an effort to make the path as inconspicuous as possible.

It is a well known fact, he said, that when one of the men is being taken from his family to jail, he will not show any affection for his folks no matter how much he may care for them. The women, too, he said, unlike many of their sisters, seldom whisper when the men are being taken away.

The children up to the age of seven, will talk, but after they reach that age, a stranger seldom can get anything out of them. Among the first and often the only question the mountain men ask the officers is whether they will be put in jail. To their free, roving spirits, confinement is a thing they dread most. If they go any further with their questions they ask "who turned me up," and, according to the officer it is death for the informant, if he is found out.

Many of them do not manifest hatred for revenue officers whom they recognize as doing their duty. But an outsider is never forgiven if he tells where a still is located, he said, because it is held by the moonshiner to be "none of their business."

SINN FEIN MAY ENTER FOR A NEW CONGRESS

(By Associated Press)

Dublin, April 23.—It is now generally believed that the Sinn Fein will nominate candidates and contest the election of members of the new parliament for the South of Ireland with the intention of preventing its constitution by refusal of the Sinn Feiners to attend its organization and meetings.

It was the inclination of the Sinn Fein to ignore the Home Rule act so far as it applied to the South of Ireland and to let the elections go by default. This course is now said to have been abandoned because of fears that if it were carried out, the opposition parties might be enabled to organize the proposed new governing body. The elections are to be held in May and the government plans to attempt to inaugurate the new parliament on June 19. It had been expected that the government would put a Home Rule act into operation first in Northern Ireland and wait a more convenient opportunity before beginning the new system in the south but British cabinet has decided to go ahead with the whole plan.

The chief secretary has been assured that the Nationalist party will name a sufficient number of candidates to insure a contest against the Sinn Feiners.

If the Sinn Feiners should be elected, as they fully expect to be, and should refuse to take the oath and attend the sessions of the new parliament, the act provides a method by which the South of Ireland shall be governed. The king in council is authorized under these conditions to call upon the lord lieutenant, with the aid of a committee composed of members of the privy council and other persons nominated for that purpose, to exercise the powers which otherwise would have been within the prerogatives of parliament. The existing system of Irish government appears, therefore, in any event, to be approaching an end.

A REAL FIGHT ON FOR DERBY EVE

Chicago, April 23.—Pal Moore, the Memphis, Tenn., bantam-weight is in the midst of an extensive training seige here in preparation for his 12-round contest with Joe Lynch, the bantam-weight champion, in Louisville, May 6, the night before the running of the Kentucky Derby.

Critics agree that Moore always has given Lynch the best contest that the title holder ever received during his brilliant career in the ring. They have met in five contests—54 rounds in all—and only Lynch's superior strength and staying power have been able to overcome Moore's tremendous speed. The coming contest will be decided in the Jefferson county armory and indications are that the gate receipts may reach $30,000.

Negro Babe Born With a Foot Where Hand Should Be

Instead of a right hand, a foot was given by nature to the baby born to the wife of Charlie Summers, colored, near Stamping Ground, Scott county. The terminal of the right arm is in the shape of a foot except that the toes are webbed together. The toes, however, have toenails. The child is perfectly normal in every other respect, according to Dr. William Salin, the attending physician.

Two Kinds of Women

We know a woman, who when she needs to purchase necessary things for the home or for the family puts on her shopping costume, dabs a bit of powder on her nose and sallies forth.

She shops here and there and down another hunting and h-u-n-t-i-n-g. When she gets home she is jazzy and jaded. She feels all mussed up mentally and physically.

We know another who has learned the art of reading the advertisements before she starts out. She finds out what she wants and where to get it. Then she goes straight down town right to the store that has it.

BULLS FOR BETTER SIRE SALE NOW 300

Orders to increase the number of purebred registered bulls to 300 instead of 200 as originally planned for the Farmers' Better Sire Sale to be held at the Bourbon stockyards June 2 by the Kentucky Purebred Livestock Association and the Louisville Livestock Exchange have been issued. The increase was decided upon following report from field agents of the two organizations, the county agents of the state and the Kentucky University College of Agriculture that at the sale it was expected to be much greater than expected and the number of assured purchasers of the purebred animals was increasing rapidly.

Twenty-seven community bulls to be bought at the sale already are pledged, while reports from bankers, business men in the farming districts and the farmer themselves indicate the distribution of the purebred animals will cover a large percentage of the desirable sections of the state. Individual purchases will be very heavy, reports promise.

In one county the practical extermination of the scrub bull is assured through the group disposal of the inferior cattle planned with the substitution of purebreds from the sale to be held.

BEREA EXPERIMENT FIELD MEET MAY 30

Prominent Agriculturists to Cooperate With County Agent
Spence on That Date

Word has been received by County Agent Robert F. Spence that the annual spring meeting on the Berea experiment field being conducted by soil and crops department of the State College of Agriculture, in co-operation with Mr. Spence, will be held on May 30. The Madison county meeting is one of a series of seven being held by the department on the experiment field in different parts of the state for the purpose of discussing soil management and other problems with local farmers.

Among those who will appear on the program at the all-day meeting will be Director Thomas P. Cooper, of the Kentucky Experiment Station, M. O. Hughes, special agent of the station, S. C. Jones, of the soils and crops department, and Prof. George Roberts, head of the department.

The Berea field has been in progress since 1913 and some important facts relative to soil improvement and management are expected to be brought out at the meeting.

Agent Spence sends the following about two new wheat diseases:

Flag Smut

Symptoms—Black stripes running lengthwise in the leaf blades and sheaths are typical of flag smut. These black stripes are due to the spores produced by the fungus. The disease is commonly more injurious to the upper leaves of the plant. The stems are also infected to some extent. Infected plants are usually more or less dwarfed, and they rarely head out or produce seed. Commonly all the stalks on a diseased plant are smutted, but occasionally one or more stalks show no infection. Flag smut attacks the leaves, and therefore, is easily distinguished from the other wheat smuts which attack the head.

Take-All

Symptoms—Badly dwarfed plants occurring in distinct patches of varying size and shape or singly among the healthy plants are typical of the disease. These symptoms first become evident in the spring after the growth of the healthy plants is well started.

Diseased plants show the following characteristic symptoms: (1) dwarfing and, a little later, (2) abnormal dark green coloration of the fall leaves, (3) dying of outer leaves and fall tillers and browning of crowns and roots; (4) excessive development of spring tillers; (5) some plants may be killed entirely while in the dwarfed stage.

Badly infected fields may have only a few healthy plants, but where the infestation is slight, it may be very difficult to find the more or less isolated diseased plants scattered among the healthy ones. More commonly patches or spots of diseased plants show up here and there without regard to the type or the condition of the soil. Most of the plants in these spots are diseased and stunted, thus giving a sharply defined margin to the area. In spots due to local unfavorable soil conditions, on the other hand, all the plants usually decrease in height rather gradually from the edge toward the center.

Write State College of Agriculture or U. S. Department of Agriculture if you find either of these diseases.

Supper 15 Years Cold

(Beattyville Enterprise)
About 15 years ago George Heffner was an employee of the old L. & A. railroad, running from here to Frankfort or Versailles. One night he went to the Coomer House and got his supper. He had no money, so got it on promise to pay when he got back from his next run. That run never came, for he was sent to another road the next day. The other day who should drop in but Mr. Heffner. Soon as he landed in town he sought the Coomer House and told of his wanderings and the supper he got there 15 years before—which had been totally forgotten by Mrs. Coomer. And he wound up by handing her a piece of money and saying: "Mamma, here's your quarter."

MADISON DEFEATED AT WINCHESTER, 5 TO 4

The Madison Hi School base ball team went down to defeat Friday afternoon at the hands of the Winchester Hi School, at Winchester, by the close score of 5 to 4.

Although defeated the local team was by no means humiliated, as they went down to defeat with colors flying, scoring two runs in the ninth inning with two men gone. Reid, Madison's star pitcher, on account of the cold was a trifle wild, walking several men in the first two innings, but as the game progressed he steadied himself and held Winchester almost scoreless for the rest of the game. Reeves, Madison's catcher, caught a splendid game after the first three innings and also delivered some timely hits. On account of the high wind which prevailed throughout the game, playing was difficult and fly balls were exceptionally difficult to field. Brock although charged with an error, played a nice game around the second bag and also led his team in batting, securing four safe hits out of five times at bat. Noland, on third, was slightly off form but played a very good brand of ball. Stone played an errorless game on short, accepting three difficult chances without a wobble. He started a batting rally in ninth which for a few minutes threatened to win the game for Madison. The outfield composed of Stone, Chambers and Kunkel, also fielded well but fell down in the pinches before Nelson's speed although each secured a safe hit.

Up into the ninth inning it seem as if Winchester had the game stowed away but in the ninth the Richmond boys came to bat determined to score. H. Stone was out on three straight strikes. Wilson, playing in Chambers place, rolled an easy ground er to third and was out by a step. T. Stone singled to right field and stole second, but was held a second on Reeves' single over second's head. T. Stone stole third. Reid hit a terrific line over short to left field, scoring T. Stone and Reeves. With Reid on second and Brock at bat prospects were excellent for a run. Brock lived up to his reputation as a slugger by hitting a terrific liner which was labeled for a sure double but it hit the umpire on the arm and Reid was held at third. Blevins came to bat determined to hit but the best he could do was a sharp roller to short who retired the side with a splendid pickup and throw to first, the last nail in Winchester's victory and blasting the hopes of Madison Hi.

The local high school will cross bats with Lancaster Friday, Apr. 29, and it is hoped that there will be a large crowd out to see the game. In a previous encounter with the Lancaster boys the local lads played high class ball and whitewashed their opponents 4 to 0, letting them down with two safe hits, which was a remarkable achievement as Lancaster has the reputation of being one of the hardest hitting high school teams in this section of the country. PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

The One True Test

The one sure way to determine actual motor car value is by a thorough, exhaustive demonstration.

In the show room, you can tell at a glance whether a car satisfies your artistic demands. The next step, then, is to get out on the road and discover what lies under the hood. Power, Speed and Endurance are qualities of action that only a ride can establish.

We suggest just this course in judging any Paige 6-66 model. We go one step farther, however, and invite you to compare it with any other car—at any price—on the American market. Take the comparative demonstrations first. Then inspect the price tags.

The Paige-Daytonia Model, remember, is the stock car speed champion of the world. And the motor that you will find under a 6-66 hood belongs to Paige and Paige alone. Don't forget that.

Abe Lincoln Once Sold Liquor

(Louisville Times)

Did you know that once upon a time Abraham Lincoln sold liquor? Here's a clipping passed on by Fred Petre, which purports to be a copy of the license granted to Lincoln and his partner in New Salem, Ill., in 1833:

Ordered that William F. Berry, in the name of Berry & Lincoln, have a license to keep a tavern in New Salem, to continue twelve months from this date, and to pay $1 in addition to the $6 heretofore paid as treasurer's receipt, and that they be permitted to charge the following rate, viz: French brandy, per half pint, 25 cents.

Peach brandy, per half pint, 18 cents.
Apple brandy, per half pint, 12 cents.
Holland gin, per half pint, 18 cents.
Domestic gin, per half pint, 12 cents.

Wine, per half pint, 25 cents.
Rum, per half pint, 18 cents.
Whisky, per half pint, 12 cents.
—Hopkinsville New Era.

Wonder if Honest Abe would sell it at that price today? Or, if he were president now, would he emancipate those thousands (of gallons) in bondage?

The Normal is trying to give the town the best base ball team in the history of the school and the boys appreciate the co-operation from the good people of the city. An admission of 50 cents will be charged to men and 25 cents to women and children.

A "Go-Getter" That Never Fails

THE OBJECT of advertising is to make people want something that you have to offer, and to make them definitely want, not simply the general type or kind of article or commodity you have, but that very brand or product itself.

This fact in advertising is what makes a trademark, or nameplate or any other consistently used symbol, by which a thing becomes familiarly known, worthwhile and of value.

Advertising is the "Go-Getter" of the business world, the service that creates desire which turns into demand. It finds buyers in the hidden places, and opens up avenues for the distribution of merchandise that are unapproachable through any other source. It locates and develops unrevealed markets, and opens the wide trade fields that lead to growth and expansion.

It is the pathway along which vision points the way to success.

There are many ways in which to advertise. News and farm papers and magazines, street cars and billboards, lighted signs and direct mail letters are only a few of the many existing forms of media. Each general class of media has uses for which it is best adapted. In each general class there are certain definite media that may be especially well-fitted by reason of extent or character of circulation, or prominence of location, for the setting forth of the desired selling message.

The selection of the proper media is one of the most important points in connection with successful advertising. Linked with the advertisement itself, this choice of media means a sympathetic visualization of a selling message to an appreciative audience, or it means a futile effort to foist on uninterested people something for which they do not care. And so the necessity of selecting the right media is just as vital as the preparation of the advertisement.

tising copy. Good copy in an unsuited medium is even more gone to waste than poor copy in a good medium.

The ideal arrangement, of course, is the strong, concise, well-displayed selling message addressed through the proper source of circulation to the kind of people one is trying to reach.

And herein is the advantage that agency service gives.

Agency Service offers the experience of trained men to perfect and direct the advertising campaign. With facilities not available to others, an agency determines the nature and number of media, it prepares the advertising matter and displays it with due regard to the essential points of commodity and of the class of people addressed. An agency watches the ebb and flow of trade and advises as to selling features and selling places. It is the watchful eye that is ever wake to the publicity interests of its clients.

The advertising agency determines the advertising plan in all its infinite details and then directs and watches its carrying out. It checks up the papers, renders the accounts, pays the bills, and in fact acts as its name indicates, as agent for the advertiser. This service is rendered without cost, the agency getting its compensation through commission from the advertising media used.

Let one of the nine reputable Southern agencies, listed below, all of which are alive to the advantages and opportunities of the South, talk over advertising with you. A card addressed to any one of them will bring immediate response.

Consult with one of the recognized and accredited Advertising Agencies named below. Allow one of them to submit an outline of the service they are prepared to render. You may be assured that an invitation to call will be appreciated and that no obligation whatsoever will be incurred.

Jack's Reading Room.

The men's quarters on our new battleships are more luxurious than the Admiral's quarters of fifty years ago. This is a corner in the reading room of the U. S. S. New Mexico. A big library and complete file of current magazines, as well as newspapers from all the large cities, help to take care of any stormy hours when Jack may not prefer to be on deck. A good title for this picture would be, "Why boys leave home," and the best part of it is that they come back real men.
